The Court orders that the motion to affirm is DENIED. Because this Court has determined that defendant's motion to affirm was vexatious, plaintiff may recover actual damages and expenses incurred as a result of that motion, including reasonable attorney fees. The case is remanded to the trial court for a determination of plaintiff's actual damages and expenses incurred in responding to the motion and for an order awarding the amount determined. MCR 7.216(C).

Murphy, C.J., would deny the motion to affirm.
